The Reformation movement within Germany diversified almost immediately, and other reform impulses arose independently of Luther. Huldrych Zwingli built a Christian theocracy in Zürich in which church and state joined for the service of God. Zwingli agreed with Luther in the centrality of the doctrine of justification by faith, but he espoused a different understanding of the Holy Communion.

Reformation: Definition and History | HISTORY.com - HISTORY

Modern relativism flowered from, primarily, the Protestant Reformation's systematic destruction of the creed of a central moral authority. At the rate at which this relativism spreads, it might well spark the demise of western civilization as it is known. By means of the protestant reformation, the rejection of absolute truth and an authority ...
